Comer-Brewer

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Graves Wednesday evening when their sister, Miss Alice Comer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Comer of Union became the bride of Mr. John E. Brewer of Gilroy. The Rev. H. H. Wintler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Los Gatos officiated, assisted by the Rev. J. O. Duncan, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Campbell.

The ring ceremony was read beneath a wreath of vines, and a basket of ferns and marigolds tied with tulle. The bride and groom, accompanied by the bridesmaid, Miss Ludwina Conrad, and groomsman, Mr. Harry Gilardin took their places to a march played by Mr. Graves.

The bride was charmingly gowned in cream georgette and carried a shower of white carnations and maiden hair ferns clustered with tulle. The bridesmaid an old time chum of the bride wore a dainty shade of blue silk and cream crepe de chine, and carried a bouquet of Cecil Bruner roses and maiden hair.

The groom has but recently received his honorable discharge from the artillery service after a term of overseas duty. He has leased the P. M. Comer ranch south of Campbell where they will make their future home.

The ceremony was witnessed by the relatives and a few friends. Dainty refreshments of ice-cream and cake "like mother makes" served as a finishing setting for the happy affair.

The best wishes of their many friends are extended the happy young people.

The Yanks on the Marne

By an unknown British author.

Oh, the English and the Irish, and the 'owlin' Scottish, too,
The Canucks and Austrilee-uns, and the 'airy French poilu;
The only things that bothered us, a year before we knew,
Was 'ow in 'ell the Yanks'd look, an' wot in 'ell they'd do.

They 'adn't ad no tryin'; they didn't know the game;
They 'adn't never marched it much; their shooting was the sime;
An' the only thing that bothered us that day in lawst July
Was 'ow in 'ell the line'd 'old if they should run aw'y.

The leggy, nosy new 'uns, just come across the sea
We couldn't 'elp but wonder 'ow in 'ell their guts'd be;
An' the only thing that bothered us in all our staggerin' ranks
Was wot in 'ell would 'appen w'en the 'uns 'ad 'it the Yanks.

My word, it 'appened sudden we'en the drive 'ad first begun;
We seen the Yanks a-runnin'—Gaw Blimy, how they run!
But the only thing that bothered us that seen the chase begin
Was 'ow in 'ell to stop 'em 'fore they got into Berlin.

They didn't 'ave no tactics but the bloody manual;
They 'adn't learned no orders but "Ooray" and "Give 'em 'ell!"
But the only thing that bothered us about them leggy lads
Was 'ow in 'ell to get the chow to feed their Kamerads.

Oh, the English and the Irish, and the 'owlin' Scottish, too,
The Canucks and Austrilee-uns, and the 'airy French poilu;
The only thing that bothered us don't bother us no more.
It's only w'y in 'ell we didn't know the Yanks before.

Broken Stove Lining.

If any one contemplates mending a broken stove lining with a cement made of salt and ashes mixed with water, don't do it. The salt will rust the stove, ruining it beyond repair. Instead, get a quart or so of cement and some sand from the street, and mix with water. Fill all the holes and cracks and your lining will be as good as a new one and your stove not injured.

Calinut; Butter Substitute

Points on Calinut:—

Calinut, while technically classed in law as Oleomargarine, contains no Oleo oils. It is chiefly cocoanut butter, which has been churned in milk to impart a flavor resembling that of ordinary creamery butter.

Calinut is perfectly wholesome. If you like it as well as "real" butter, it is as good as butter—for you. So expert chemists say.

Calinut melts at about the temperature of 73 degrees. Hence this is a disadvantage in very warm weather. Use ice during a hot spell.

Should Calinut become unsuited for use on the table for any reason—as in melting, for example—it may still serve as a cooking fat, being as cheap as any other shortening.

Since the best that can be said for Calinut is that it is equal in some respects, but not in all, to good creamery butter, why bother with Calinut? For one powerful reason—the price. As compared with ordinary butter, Calinut costs about one-half.

Calinut sells at 35c a pound.

("Cali" for California; "nut" because derived from cocoanut—the name is easily remembered.)

Ounces of Prevention

For years we have had "appeals" to better the treatment of offenders against the law. Those who go wrong are often labeled with "low mentality" or accused of having no training, and we are told that education and training will correct these defects. But is this a fact? Many of our worst scoundrels have bright minds and an excellent education. Possibly their training has been faulty and the education imperfect, or entirely wrong.

Society has again and again been instructed to treat "cases" thus and so, and various methods have been employed to better conditions, but these unfortunates will not reform or improve. Meanwhile many similar ones are following in their ways. The friendly visitor and the brotherhood have also been suggested. However, these are so tardily applied that they also fail to cure. Must we replace them all by something new? Instead of trying to reform the wayard or attempting to improve them, why not be their friendly visitor or brother and sister before they "go wrong"?

Thus many "ounces of prevention would certainly save many bodies and souls, and start the coming generations with less evil inclinations and in time develop all mankind in the right direction.

PLAN OF GRAZING FOR GOATS

Give Vegetation Opportunity to Grow by Dividing Range on Which Animals Forage.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The production of more mohair and meat can be obtained in raising goats on the range by following a plan of grazing which will give the vegetation a chance to grow sufficiently to maintain itself. Most goat ranges are used throughout the year. This and the general practice of driving the goats out from a corral at the ranch headquarters and back every day for months or throughout the year have been largely responsible for deterioration of the range. An excellent method of giving the forage a proper opportunity for growth is to divide the range into three areas—one for spring, another for summer and fall, and a third for winter.

The number and distribution of the goats on these divisions should be such as to secure proper and uniform utilization of the forage. The divisions should be protected from grazing except during the seasons determined upon. On successive parts of the summer and fall range grazing should be deferred until after seed maturity of the forage plants so as to insure proper revegetation. On winter range the forage close to the sheds should be reserved for stormy periods only.

The old practice of bedding the goats on the same bed ground every night in the year prevents proper management of the range and results in overgrazing, in uneven utilization of the forage and general depreciation of the range. This in turn has a bad effect on the condition of goats and the production of meat and mohair. The use of many bed grounds widely distributed over the range aids materially in improving the quality and quantity of the forage, reducing the trailing and driving of the goats, and securing better growth of goats and mohair. The ideal system is to bed the goats wherever night overtakes them, and it is this system, called the "bedding-out" system, that growers of goats are urged to adopt whatever practicable.

The bedding-out system cannot be strictly adhered to during kidding, during periods of stormy winter weather, nor just after shearing; but its use at other times is practicable and it has many advantages.

Range to be suitable for goats should possess a mixture of browse, grasses, and weeds, be free from continued heavy rains and snows, and be well supplied with bed grounds and watering places. Browse furnishes most of the range feed for goats throughout the year, so that it should be abundant. Grass and weeds are necessary for does and kids during the spring and summer, and are of considerable value at all times to give variety to the forage.

Plenty of fresh palatable feed has a marked beneficial effect on mohair production, growth of the goats, and the proportion of kids raised. It also reduces the proportion of losses. Therefore, instead of overstocking a range with inferior goats, the producer should stock it with the number of high-grade goats which it can conservatively carry.

The range goat should be the large, well-built, early maturing Angora, producing a large quantity of fine mohair. The body and chest should be relatively broad and deep, the back wide and straight, the thighs full, the ribs well sprung, and the legs short, strong, and set wide apart. Such Angoras make possible a substantial revenue from two sources—mohair and meat.

The does should be uniform, of good size, have good constitutions, be good producers of mohair, and should produce sufficient milk to insure proper growth of their kids. The bucks should more nearly approximate the ideal than the does. They should be large and vigorous and should produce a large quantity of high-quality mohair. Only those wethers which produce a very large quantity of fine mohair should be retained in the herd after they are two years old.

Greatest Wheat Crop on Record

Based on Government Guarantee of $2.26 Per Bushel, Will Be Worth $2,793,000,000

A wheat crop of 1,236,000,000 bushels and a yield of 3,021,000,000 bushels of feed grains, wheat, oats, rye and barley, the largest on record at this season, is estimated by the June report of the department of agriculture.

The aggregate gain of the four grains is 223,000,000 bushels, or 8 per cent in excess of the harvest of last year.

The report shows that practically one-third of the world's wheat crop will be raised in the United States this year. In previous years the United States has grown about one-fifth.

The wheat crop alone is by far the greatest on record, increasing 319,000,000 bushels, or 34 per cent, over last year, and 210,000,000 bushels, or 24 per cent, above the record in 1915, and 445,000,000 bushels over the five-year average of 1913-'17. Based on $2.26 per bushel at Chicago, the wheat crop is worth $2,793,000,000, and on $2 the valuation is $2,472,000,000. This means prosperity for the farmers and business interests and railroads.

The crop is so large that it is to be handled by the railroads on the permit system. Enough wheat is in sight to give Europe 600,000,000 bushels and leave 636,000,000 bushels for domestic consumption.

Winter wheat crop of 893,000,000 bushels was cut down 7,000,000 bushels in May, largely by rust, the loss being 5.6 points from last month and condition for the country left at 94.9. The damage, of which more is expected, is mainly in the central western states, and is extending eastward through the states south of the Ohio river. The heaviest loss in condition was 10 points in Kansas, although that state has a showing of 93 and a crop of 191,647,000 bushels, a loss of nearly 7,000,000 bushels last month and 15,000,000 bushels over its record of 1914. Missouri dropped eight points to 93, but shows nearly 72,000,000 bushels. Illinois lost five points, with a condition of 96. Nebraska dropped six points, showing 95, with a crop of practically 70,000,000 bushels. Oklahoma is off six points and Oregon seven points. Texas, Washington, Ohio and Pennsylvania improved slightly, the former having a condition of 101, while Ohio has 106 and Pennsylvania 103. A surprise was given in spring wheat returns, the estimated yield being 343,000,000 bushels, or 15,000,000 bushels short of last year, while early estimates were that farmers would strain every effort to put in an immense acreage. Unfavorable weather in the Northwest, however, prevented it, except in South Dakota.

In the central West there was a big increase. The total acreage for the country is 22,592,000, an increase of 186,000 over last year's harvested area. In the three northwestern states there were 14,905,000 acres, compared with 15,150,000 acres harvested last year. The condition is 104 in South Dakota and 94 and 95 in North Dakota and Minnesota. Indicated yield for the three states is 197,000,000 bushels, or 51,000,000 bushels under last year. In the nonspring-wheat states a big acreage has been put in, which helped to make up the loss in the Northwest.

Oats crop is above an average with a yield estimated at 1,446,000,000 bushels, a decrease of 92,000,000 bushels from last year's final returns, and an increase of 115,000,000 bushels over the five-year average. The acreage decreased 2,035,000. Condition of 93.2 is the same as last year and 3.8 points over the ten-year average.

Barley acreage decreased 780,000 and the crop is estimated at 232,000,000 bushels, or 24,000,000 bushels short of last year's record. A new mark is set for the rye crop at 107,000,000 bushels, or the same as last month and 19,000,000 bushels more than last year.

A hay crop of 116,000,000 tons is 25,000,000 tons more than last year. Apple production is estimated at 166,000,000 bushels, and peaches 60,300,000 bushels, against 39,000,000 bushels last year, while the appie crop is 8,000,000 bushels short of 1918.

Sandwiches.

For the picnic basket there is nothing so important as well-made sandwiches with a cup of coffee for the grownups and milk or lemonade for the children. Meat of various kinds chopped and well seasoned, eggs, fish, vegetables and fruit may all be used to make sandwich filling.

Sardine Filling.

Mash sardines which have been skinned, add a little prepared mustard and spread on toasted oatmeal crackers or bread. Butter lightly before adding the filling.

Tuna Fish.

Remove the fish from the can and mix with it enough salad dressing to hold it together. Season with salt, paprika and spread on nut bread. Tuna fish has been called the turkey of the sea as the flavor is much like fowl. Lobster, crab or shrimp as well as salmon carefully shredded and mixed with a good salad dressing are good spread on any kind of bread.

Honey and Nut Filling.

Take six tablespoonfuls of honey and three tablespoonfuls of chopped nuts. Mix and spread on thin slices of white or brown bread. Spread the bread first with butter.

Date and Nut Sandwich.

Cook a cupful of dates with a half cupful of water. When thick and smooth, cool and spread on buttered brown bread. For those who like figs they may be substituted for the dates, or better in flavor than either are raisins.

Cheese and Jelly.

Mix cream cheese with cream to soften, add enough grape or currant jelly to color and flavor and serve between layers of brown and white bread put together layer-cake fashion.

When Buying Chairs Always Figure on Getting Service

When people buy chairs it is a good idea to pick them for the purpose of being sat upon—that is the chairs. Measured by some wares being shown and purchased a chair is either an ornament or a mere space filler, observes the Los Angeles Times. At least a lot of them indicate no especial use or comfort. And yet it is just as easy to buy service and strength. Some of the spindly things being shown hardly look as if they would stand up under the strain of a plug hat. When a full-grown man is shown into the presence of one of them he begins to wonder if his accident insurance is paid up.

"Babe" Ruth Drives Out a Homer Credited as Longest in Philadelphia's History

During the activities at the Athletics' ground at Philadelphia on Memorial day, "Babe" Ruth, who pitched in the morning and played left field in the afternoon game, delivered two of the longest drives that have ever been made at any ball park. In the sixth inning of the morning game Ruth drove the ball not only over the right field wall, but over the roofs of the houses on the opposite side of the street, the ball going about ten feet foul, and then in the eighth inning of the afternoon game, with the score tied at one run each and Strunk on first, Ruth drove one of Scott Pery's pitches over the roofs of the houses on the opposite side of the street, a fair ball, the ball striking on the rear of the roof of one of the houses and bounding into the back yard.

"Babe" Ruth.

The longest hit at Shibe park previous to this was the one George Burns hit over the left field wall last season, when the ball cleared the back bleacher wall and struck on the opposite side of the street. Ruth's long hit traveled a considerable distance further than Burns' drive and stops all argument as to the longest hit ever made at this park.

Order 1920 Spring Suit Now—They May Cost $75

Ordinary suits for men next spring will cost the wearer from $50 to $75 and the public is ready to pay that for a suit, Ludwig Stein, president of the National Clothing Manufacturers' association, declared before the Midwest reconstruction conference of retail clothiers, held recently at Kansas City. Mr. Stein said cloth was and would be scarce because of labor shortage. He said that the tendency in men's styles is turning slowly back to plain models.

BOY SCOUTS

THIS SCOUT "ALWAYS THERE"

Scout Francis Coon, the standard bearer who carries the troop flag of Carbondale, Pa., Troop No. 2, is fifteen years old, 3 feet 10 inches high and weighs 47½ pounds.

The scout is not discouraged because of his small stature, for he says he "grows a little every once in a while."

He has no reason to be discouraged, for his record in war work for Uncle Sam is one which any scout might envy. In the second Liberty loan campaign, he sold eight bonds. In the third, 13 bonds, and in the fourth, 217 bonds. He has used 31 red postcards, making War Savings stamp sales to the amount of about $800.

During the black walnut census, he found four trees. One of these was eight miles from his home, another 15 and the last two 25 and 35 miles respectively. He went five miles to spot another, which he remembered having seen, but when he arrived at the spot found that the tree had been cut down.

When asked to describe his method of selling Liberty bonds, he said: "I get hold of a fellow I think ought to buy a bond and hang onto his coat tail until he does."

LIEUT. MILTON LOWENSTEIN.

New York city's first eagle scout, flew for boy scout week.

"YOUNG TEDDY" FOR SCOUTS.

Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt addressed the members of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America in their convention at the Hotel Commodore in New York city and explained the result of the military training upon the men of the nation, emphasizing the three most beneficial effects produced.

The training served to democratize and Americanize, and lastly was of a great educational value. In his appeal to returned officers and men he declared that every man so trained should, as a matter of duty, be willing to bestow that advantage upon the coming generation by offering his services as leader of boys.

In so doing these men will render a further patriotic service to their country.

SCOUTING HELPS THE COURT.

In sending a contribution to Edward H. Butler, editor of Buffalo Evening News, for the maintenance of boy scout work, United States Attorney Stephen T. Lockwood said:

"I wish to state that I am strong for the boy scouts. If everybody in the city of Buffalo could be physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight, I would have the opportunity of dismissing the federal grand jury, to go home and meditate in my garden for a few weeks."

BOY SCOUT DOINGS.

A boy scout in Plainfield, Conn., did his daily "good turn" by going each morning and evening to milk the cows for a neighbor who was ill.

In Providence, R. I., Boy Scout Troop No. 21 earned over $40 and then bought yarn for the Red Cross to be knitted for the soldiers and sailors.

In appreciation of services rendered to the city of New London, Conn., by scouts in a street cleaning campaign, Mayor E. Frank Morgan presented 57 scouts with medals bearing the seal of the city.

The Covington, Ky., board of education has passed a resolution that the Boy Scouts of America is to be given precedence over all other organization work with boys which may be developed in connection with the public schools of that city.

The boy scouts of Quincy, Mass., have a headquarters containing 4,545 square feet of building space and 68,000 square feet of land to keep in condition. The scouts sweep, scrub and oil the floors, wash windows, dust, keep the grounds in good condition, run errands, do clerical work and all kinds of chores.

Loganberry Juice May Soon Become Popular Among the "Soft" Drinks in Demand

"Soft drinks"—"soft" in slang meaning "easy to get"—may attain new importance. Soft drinks made from fruit juices doubtless will attract many new devotees, who will find that beverages made from pure fruit juices are decidedly healthful, cooling, refreshing and invigorating, says the United States department of agriculture.

Because of its pleasant flavor, the juice of the Logan blackberry, commonly known as the loganberry, is very popular as a beverage. The berry is also used in making jams, jellies and soda-fountain sirups. Methods of extracting and treating the juice are constantly being bettered. This industry, already a large one, is growing rapidly.

Loganberry juice is naturally so sour that it is necessary both to dilute and to sweeten it to obtain a drinkable article. The berry has a characteristic flavor. It somewhat resembles that of the raspberry, both red and black, but is more acid than either.

Adding enough sugar to reduce sufficiently the tartness of the juice makes a product too sirupy to drink, unless it is diluted at the same time. The sirup prepared for soda-fountain use is not diluted until sold over the counter. Some of the sweetened but undiluted juices have been labeled by manufacturers as "concentrated." This description is unwarranted, as the juices have not been concentrated or evaporated, but simply sweetened. They should be properly labeled as loganberry sirups.

Locusts as Food Date Back to the Days of John the Baptist, and Others

It was not necessary for a learned entomologist in the Johns Hopkins faculty to prove the edibility of locusts by eating a few of them and surviving the experiment. For unnumbered centuries these insects have been an occasional, but considerable, part of the diet of millions of people in several parts of the world, and if ever those people hear of the Johns Hopkins man's exploit they will smile superiorly and wonder at the belatedness of his audacity. The history of John the Baptist is not the only recorded instance in which empirical persons have anticipated the scientist.

Of course, locusts are edible; so are hundreds of other insects—thousands of them, probably—and it might not be at all injudicious at this time, when so much of the world's population is going hungry, if more attention were bestowed on what is, after all, the largest of new food sources. Still, the locusts in this country are not in much danger as a result of the professor's revelation, even though he does say that they taste like shrimp.

Youth—I don't want to take that character. I'll make a fool of myself.

Lady Stage Manager — Well, you said you wanted an easy part.

The Difference.

"What's the difference between baseball and trigonometry?"

"Give it up."

"A woman will pretend to be interested when you're trying to explain baseball to her."

A Desirable Entertainment.

"A successful man must study the faults of others."

"Well, I don't know that it will make a man successful, but it ought to be a delightful study."

The Popular Fad.

"Everybody seems to be affected with it."

"What?"

"The strike fever."

"What's happened now?"

"The wife and children have struck for more spending money."

Sensitive.

Mrs. Newgilt—What is your objection to buying that lovely French bulldog?

Her Husband—I won't stand for a dog that turns up his nose at me.

Bird Census.

According to the conclusions reached by the government investigators who took the federal bird census several years ago, breeding birds prefer to set up housekeeping and raise their families in the thickly inhabited centers of population. Another instance of flocking to the cities!

DAIRY

INCREASE IN DAIRY PROFITS

Dairy Bull Associations Have Done Good Work and Show Big Increase in Incomes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Scrub dairy bulls are doomed. The bull association sounds their death knell, but it replaces them with bulls of better breeding. In June, 1916, there were 44 dairy bull associations and several have been organized since then. They are doing excellent work. Without exception they show an increased income without an increased cost.

The New Windsor (Maryland) Bull association has furnished production records of dams and daughters for three successive years. Each year the daughters have produced more milk and butter fat than their dams, which demonstrates that the bulls were well selected. Of the 21 daughters of association bulls for which the 1918 records are available, 16 excelled their dams in butter-fat production, and 15 excelled their dams in production of both milk and butter fat.

The average yearly production of the dams was 5,560 pounds of milk and 219 pounds of butter fat. The average yearly production of the 21 daughters was 6,523 pounds of milk and 263 pounds of butter fat. In milk production the daughters excelled their dams by 963 pounds or 17 per cent, and in butter-fat production by 44 pounds, or 20 per cent. These are not as large gains as some other bull associations have given, but are well worth while.

Because of co-operative ownership the bulls cost the farmers no more than would have been paid for scrubs; it costs no more to feed the daughters than to feed the dams, and it costs much less to feed the bulls because there were not so many of them. The increased production, therefore, was all net profit.

GROWS GARDEN TO BUY CALF

Washington Boy Raises Prize-Winning Vegetables and Buys Jersey Heifer With Money.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Alfred Olson of Klickitat county, Wash., is a member of one of the calf clubs organized by the United States department of agriculture and the state college of Washington. With his purebred Jersey heifer calf, Arca's Babe, he won the state championship prize last year: In 1917 Alfred became interested in the calf club work, but a purebred calf costs money, and he did not have funds to buy that requisite for membership. To enroll in a garden club as the first step toward entering the calf club may seem unusual, but that was what the Klickitat county boy did, and he reached the desired goal. The weeds in his club garden kept him busy all summer, but he gave it such faithful care that his vegetables were prize winners. He exhibited a collection of them at the state fair and took $60 worth of prizes.

Meanwhile he had been writing to Jersey breeders for prices and descriptions of calves. He decided on Jerseys because that was the breed his father had. With $40 of his garden prize money he bought a month-old Jersey heifer calf in October. He kept her in the barn all winter, but in the spring she was turned out on the range. When brought in in September to be made ready for exhibition purposes she was larger at eleven months than his father's grade calves of fifteen months. At the state fair Alfred's Jersey was awarded the state championship prize in the boys' and girls' club class and was valued at $150.

SMALL-TOP MILK PAIL BEST

Prevents Entrance of Dust or Dirt and Greatly Reduces Number of Bacteria in Milk.

In modern dairies where clean milk is produced the small-top milk pail is a necessity, as it presents only a small opening into which dust and dirt may fall from the air or from the cow's body. It has been found by experience that the use of a pail of this kind greatly reduces the number of bacteria in milk from dairies where it is used. Many types of milk pails are for sale, but any tinner by the addition of a hood can convert an ordinary pail into a small-top pail.

CALOMEL MAKES YOU SICK. UGH!

"Dodson's Liver Tone" better than calomel and can not salivate.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel, just remember that your druggist sells for a few cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.—Adv.

Smooth Work.

"How did Hicks manage to reform that nagging wife of his?"

Papa Willis—How so many people in New York get along without working.—Life.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.—Adv.

STARS

Alone, in the night,
On a great hill
With pines around me
Spicy and still,

And a heaven full of stars
Over my head,
White and topaz
And misty red,

Myriads with beating
Hearts of fire
That aeons
Cannot vex or tire,

Up to the dome of heaven
Like a great hill,
I watch them marching
Stately and still,

And I know that I
Am honored to be
Witness
Of so much majesty.

Delicate Mechanism

Despite its scope Swift & Company is a business of infinite details, requiring infinite attention.

Experienced men must know livestock buying with a knowledge of weight, price, the amount and quality of meat the live animals will yield.

Each manufacturing operation must be done with expert skill and scientific precision. A highly perishable product must be handled with speed and care to avoid loss.

Chemists, engineers, accountants, and other specialists are required to take care of our intricate problems.

Alert wisdom and judgment must be used in getting stocks of goods into the open channels of demand through our four hundred branch houses. Branch house organizations must show activity and energy to sell at the market in the face of acute competition from other large packers, and hundreds of small ones.

All these requirements of intelligence, loyalty, devotion to the task, are met in the personnel of Swift & Company. Yet the profit is only a fraction of a cent per pound with costs at minimum.

How can the workings of this delicate human mechanism be improved upon?

Do you believe that Government direction would add to our efficiency or improve the service rendered the producer and consumer?

In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Santa Clara

In the matter of the Estate of Jane Cordelia O'Neil, Deceased.) NOTICE

Notice is hereby given, that pursuant to an order of the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Santa Clara, made on the 3rd day of March, A. D. 1916, in the matter of the estate of said Jane Cordelia O'Neil, deceased, the undersigned, the administrator of the estate of said deceased, will sell at private sale, in one parcel, as hereinafter described and set forth, to the highest bidder upon the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned and subject to confirmation by said Superior Court, on or after the 11th day of August, A. D. 1919, all of the right, title and interest and estate of said Jane Cordelia O'Neil, deceased, at the time of her death, which was and is the ownership in fee simple of the real property hereinafter described, and of the right, title and interest that the said estate has by operation of law, or otherwise, acquired, other than, or in addition to, that of said deceased, at the time of her death, of, in and to, that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in the City of San Jose, County of Santa Clara, State of California, and particularly described as follows, to-wit:

COMMENCING at a point in the Northerly line of San Salvador Street in the City of San Jose, about 18 feet Easterly from the intersection of said line of said Street with the Westerly boundary line of said City as said western boundary line existed on the 17th day of November, 1896, said point being the Southeasterly corner of Lot 2 of the Sunol Partition of a part of the Los Coches Rancho, and running thence Westerly along said line of said Street 73 feet; thence at right angles with last named line, Northerly 288 ft.; thence Easterly and parallel with said Street about 25 feet to the Easterly line of said Lot 2; and thence Southerly along said line of said Lot to the place of beginning, and being the same premises conveyed by Thomas Gifford to Laura Bethell and Cora Bethell by deed dated November 17th, 1896, which said deed is of record in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Santa Clara, State of California, in Book 195 of Deeds, at page 305.

Save and except therefrom that certain part or portion thereof conveyed by said Cora Bethell, therein designated as Cora M. Bethell, and Laura Bethell to Anne E. Adams by deed dated September 3rd, 1913, which said deed is of record in the office of the County Recorder of the County of Santa Clara, State of California, in Book 406 of Deeds, at page 341, and bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the Northerly line of San Salvador Street, said point being marked by a 3" x 4" stake, said point being also at the intersection of the Northerly line of San Salvador Street with the Easterly line of Lot 12 of the "Gifford Addition, being Lot 2 Sunol Partition of a part of the Los Coches Rancho, Santa Clara County, California, Surveyed June 29th, 30th, 1904, by Curtis M. BIG WAGES is a fine thing for the worker who gets it. Big price is a good thing for a man to get for his product, whether it be from the farm or from the factory. In the race between producer and laborer as to which shall get the most cream, what is to become of the middle man, the small business man or the salaried man?

The merchant's profit is not commensurate with other advances, neither has the salaried man received a proportionate raise.

These middle men have always served as oil on the troubled waters, as oil between the friction surfaces of capital and labor. They have been the meat to the sandwich, but if conditions continue the meat will spoil, the worm will turn and become the one or the other, he must live.

WITH THAT GUILTY CONSCIENCE that needs no accuser, corn and pork have both dropped their heads in the stock market but you and I can't notice it a bit. What's a $3.50 drop on a $48 barrel of pork? By the time it reaches the consumer it is forgotten, but let it jump half that much and we get the full benefit plus a margin. Too bad some of the manipulators wouldn't show a conscience and have a heart also. Then government investigations would be needless performances.

THE RIGHT PLAN to solve the immigration problem has been hit upon by a congressional bill recently introduced. It calls for proper examination and tests to be made before the emigrant leaves his own country. This would eliminate much waste of money in shipping the undesirables back home. Stop their making the first move.

THE story of the wholesale destruction of many of our airplaines in France smells very strongly of graft. Why salvage only radiators and burn so much? Somebody had a reason for it. Who paid and who drew pay is the quandry?

Two birthdays were celebrated in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Whitman during the past week A little dinner for Miss Charlotte Davis on Thursday evening, and on Friday evening a company of ten friends and acquaintances "gathered round the festive board" in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Ethel Davis. On both occasions victrola music, interspersed with songs, pleasant chat and an occasional anecdote made the time pass all too quickly.

OUR NEIGHBORS

Pacific Grove has celebrated another of her famous "Feast of Lanterns." Some light refreshments.

Morgan Hill is sure on the "dry" list. It has been necessary to install a new well and pump to relieve the thirsty townspeople.

A mountain lion (?) is doing game warden duty on Stevens Creek according to report. Sunnyvale boys were frightened from their fishing trip. Well, maybe just as well; prevented the other variety.

Saratoga was plumb out of W. S. S. last week. Somebody's saving.

Pacific Grove hopes for a visitation of two or more of the Pacific Armada.
